more quotes

“He’s witty, poetic, genuine and devastatingly skilled in the art of six string manipulation.”

- Metroland

“It is indeed difficult to pin down what it is that Jerling does best, except to say that he’s a writer of extraordinary songs with the uncommon ability to deliver them to the audience with power and grace.”

- Greg Haymes, Albany Times Union

On “In Another Life” -

"No flash from Jerling this time around, just a steady brilliance illuminating our collective life. In Another Life is a quiet, deftly burnished American masterpiece."

- Dwight Thurston, The Voice, Hartford, CT

"Jerling has such a big easygoing voice that it takes a few tracks before you realize how extraordinary and varied his music is... A quiet tour-de-force.

- Music Matters Review

"In a perfect world, Michael Jerling would be selling a million albums, and Michael Jackson would be touring small clubs in a beat-up Buick. So the world ain't perfect. Fortunately an album like this comes along every once in a while to remind you that some things are."

- Ed McKeon, The Herald, New Britain, CT

"Good songs well-sung and supported by a strong aggregation of musicians: a real keeper. "

- Sing Out!

“...captures him doing what he does best: studying the good and bad side of life in America...from small town hypocrisy, to the national pastime of whining, to an ode to” Grandpa’s Ukulele”... Jerling eloquently covers a wide range of musical styles, including blues, rock, country and R&B.”

- Steve Givens, Acoustic Guitar
